Q-1

Online Classes and Student life

Covid has created a big impact on learning in a student's life. Before Covid students were going to schools, colleges and had offline classes, but after covid this was impossible, so the only option was studying online i.e. using meeting websites like gmeet and zoom.

In the beginning it was fun for students as they can do other stuff while classes but after some time, it became hectic due to two reasons 1) Staying in front of mobile/ laptop screen is not healthy for a kid. 2) ~~Studies~~ online studies are not the same as offline, students were lacking in many topics.

There were no interaction between students/ teachers same as in physical classes, no physical activities were possible in those tough times. So it was pretty hard for students.

Online studies were also ~~beneficial~~ beneficial for students, it made them technically

Stronger as everything was only and the only option for students is to learn those online stuff. Online studies also increased the concept of self learning in ~~studies~~ students, which will be very beneficial for students in future. ~~Q. How is it~~

Students came up with new ideas, innovations which increased their skills in that aspect.

Covid opened the gates of online studies in education field, now colleges/schools have option whether to go offline or online. Now colleges can also give admissions to students staying far from college, which can't travel and stay in college. Learning, tutorial, Exams, labs everything can be done ~~at~~ online.

~~90~~

Online education had both positive and negative impacts, but this was the only option students, teachers and schools had. To succeed in online education, college must ensure to maintain communication between student-student and student-teacher. ~~and~~

Q-2

Speech intelligibility

Speech intelligibility is defined as how clearly a person speaks so that his speech is understandable to a listener. Having clarity / intelligibility in our speech is very important as it ~~can~~ delivers your message in a better way without any errors and it reduces the chance of misconception / dispute. Reduced speech intelligibility leads to misunderstanding and loss of interest by communication partners. Speech intelligibility also creates a connection between speaker and listeners, which helps ~~to~~ the listener to be attentive.
